Basket Ball—Bedford 14, Everett 12

Bedford athletes defeated the fast Everett team at basket ball in a hard-fought game played Friday evening at last week in Rindard's Rink.

Everett was represented by its high school team, and Bedford by a team picked from members of the Young Men's Association. The final score was 12 to 14 in favor of Bedford.

Bedford made the first score with a field goal by Plank. Everett then jumped into the lead, and the first half closed with a score of 5 to 7 in favor of Everett. The second half opened fast, with occasional rough playing on both sides. Up to within five minutes of the finish Everett was still in the lead. A goal by Pierson, followed by another by Plank, won the game.

During the second half of the contest the excitement ran high. There were about fifty routers from the Everett high school and high school yells were given with spirit. A sled load and several sleighs represented the Bedford aggregation. The lineup was as follows:

Bedford	Position	Everett
Plank	R. F.	Bowen
Amos	L. F. (1st)	Eshelman
Culp (1st)	C.	(2nd) Gieger
Burke (2nd)		Howard
Pierson	L. G. (1st)	Matthew
		(2nd) Eshelman
Hershberger	R. G. (1st)	Herman
		(2nd) Gibboney

Eli E. Rose

Saturday afternoon, January 9, E. E. Rose, a former well known resident of Woodbury, died in Youngstown, O. For some years he was employed as a driver for the Keagy Woolen Mills at Potter Creek.

Later he resided in Woodbury where he conducted a barber shop in connection with a tailoring establishment. His wife, who was a daughter of the late John Keagy, and a sister of Samuel and Abram Keagy of near Woodbury, one daughter and three sons survive.

Mrs. Harry Sommers

Mrs. Laura Brumbaugh, wife of Harry Sommers, died at her home at Manheim, near Lancaster, last Sunday morning. She was a daughter of Cyrus and Hannah Brumbaugh of New Enterprise and was born at that place on May 1, 1888. She was united in marriage to Harry Sommers at New Enterprise on July 3, 1913. Her husband, parents and four sisters survive.

The body was brought to New Enterprise where funeral services were conducted on Wednesday. Interment was made in the cemetery of the Church of the Brethren, of which she was a faithful member.

Francis Vogel

Francis Vogel died suddenly while at dinner at his home in Germantown on Friday, January 8, aged about 65 years. Deceased was married to Elizabeth Shreve, a sister of Mrs. Jacob Snyder of Clearville. They resided near Robinsonville for a number of years. His wife, several brothers and four sons survive.

Petition of John Heffner for rule on Mt. Equity Coal and Coke Company for rule to show cause why it should not bring its action of ejectment.

Fire in Ridenour Block

Quick work on the part of five young men quenched a fire that threatened to assume serious proportions in the Ridenour Block shortly before 11 o'clock Monday night. The men were about to close the rooms of the Young Men's Association when the fire was discovered. The flames started from a hoghead of refuse and waste paper used by the tenants of the second floor.

The men were playing the Victrola in the Association's reading room, and when the music stopped one of the party opened the door while the others prepared to leave. He was met by a wall of flame and smoke from the wash room with an open window across the hall. The flames had scorched the wall to the ceiling, and were coming out into the hall.

Three of the men rushed to the rooms of the Western Union Telegraph Company, on the same floor, to get a fire extinguisher. They found the door locked, but Howard Booty climbed over the transom and handed out the extinguisher. Two other men had already taken rugs from the Association's rooms to throw on the fire. The fire was soon extinguished by Booty, Lawrence Pierson, Paul Hershberger, Russell McMullin and Raymond Burke. The loss was trifling.

Earlier in the evening two men, under the influence of liquor, had found their way up to the second floor of the building, and had used the wash room, which was not locked. It is thought probable that one of the men may have thrown a lighted cigar stump into the refuse barrel. The door had been left open for the past two weeks to save it from destruction. A defective lock had made it possible for men who had no key to kick the door open, and with the door open, the room became frequented with men who had no business in the building.

Thomas Campbell

Thomas Campbell died at the residence of A. W. Jones, his brother-in-law, at Mt. Union, Tuesday afternoon, January 12, from cancer. Deceased was born in Blacklog Valley, Huntingdon County, in 1858. Five sisters and three brothers, one of whom is Dr. F. S. Campbell of Hopewell, survive. Interment was made in the Odd Fellows Cemetery at Mt. Union.

George McDaniel

George McDaniel died at his home on Clear Ridge about four and one-half miles from Everett, on Tuesday of this week from a complication of diseases. He was partially paralyzed a couple years ago from which he never fully recovered and under this condition and mature years he contracted other afflictions which weakened him day after day until his demise. He was always a hearty man and a man of splendid habits and sterling qualities all his life. He was school director for several years in West Providence Township and always transacted his affairs in a business like and cautious manner.

He was 70 years, 10 months and 11 days old when he died and lived on Clear Ridge all his life. He was the son of John and Elizabeth McDaniel, long since deceased, and he is the last of the family to succumb to the Grim Reaper. He leaves two sons, Frank of California and Lewis of Nebraska, and five daughters, May, wife of George Nevitt of Colerain Township; Lizzie, wife of Isaac Andrews of Alabama; Flora, wife of Charles Williams near home; Mary, wife of Jacob Hershberger of Snake Spring Township; Nora, wife of Charles Stayer of Bedford Township, and his wife.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Frownfelter of the M. E. Church of Clearville, and interment was made in Baughman's Cemetery.

Langdendale Hall Burned

Fire early Thursday morning of last week destroyed the Red Men's Hall at Langdendale and all its contents. The building, which was a three-story structure, was occupied by Chester Froor's store on the ground floor and the residence of the Froor family on the second; the third floor was used as a lodge room by the Red Men's Association of Broad Top Township. The loss will reach several thousand dollars. The building is insured but the property of Mr. Froor is lightly covered.

Earl Herbert Bennett, Artemas, Wins $25. Answers the Thirteen Weeks Successfully

Earl Herbert Bennett of Artemas, Mann Township, son of Rev. John Bennett, selected the missing word for each week of the thirteen for Page No. 3. This entitles him to the prize of $25.00.

The contest has been one of pleasure and profit to us and we hope it has been a profit to all concerned. Many contestants have remarked to us that they learned the meanings of more words during those thirteen weeks than they did during their whole school lives. This was the educational value of the contest, for it encouraged the use of the dictionary for the spelling and meaning of words. It brought to the attention of the people the business firms of the town of Bedford and familiarized them with their stands. All in all it was a benefit to all concerned. Nothing exists to which merit and demerits cannot be ascribed. The amounts will be ascertained and checks will be issued in a few days. The successful contestants for Page 3, follow:

First Prize, Page 3, $25.00
Earl Herbert Bennett.

Second Prize, $4c Each

Company L Notes

The Regular Army Inspection which will be held in the Armory at 8 o'clock Friday evening, February 5th, will be for the purpose of rating the Company anew, and the number of men present at this inspection will regulate the amount of appropriation for clothing allowance for the ensuing year. Heretofore the clothing allowance has been based on the number of men enlisted, but this year will be based on the number actually present at this inspection. It is therefore of special importance that every member of Company L respond to the order and be present on this occasion. Every man in the Company should have some personal pride in his organization and there is no better way to show this pride than by being on hand for these public ceremonies.

Drills will be held this evening and Monday evening of next week preparatory to inspection. The drills are being very well attended and Captain Reiley is developing an exceptionally efficient staff of non-commissioned officers.

The new First Sergeant and the new Corporals have been present at every drill and are making good. The interest in the school of instruction by privates still continues and many privates are qualifying to take charge of a squad.

The captain and his lieutenants are making special efforts to improve and maintain the morale and personnel of the Company, and the citizens of the community are urged to lend a helping hand in order to promote enlistments.

Parents, in some instances, object to their boys enlisting, but it is believed that any fair minded person, who will devote a little time to consideration of the benefits derived from some military training, will immediately withdraw their objections.

Threshermen Meet

Twenty Bedford County threshermen of the Bedford County Branch of the Farmers and Threshermen's Protective Association of Pennsylvania, met in convention in the Court House last Saturday afternoon.

The main purpose of the association is to secure the removal of the act which requires that cleats be taken from engines.

Harry Drenning, chairman of the County Organization, presided. Addresses were made by Mr. Drenning, and W. H. Stansbury of Hollidaysburg, one of the principal workers in the organization. Address in general was given by Ira M. Hart of Mechanicsburg along the line of the use of traction engines.

An organization for the ensuing year was effected. Harry Drenning was elected President; R. V. Crissman, Secretary, and Herman Clouse, Treasurer.

The meetings will be held quarterly hereafter. The next meeting will be held in the Court House Thursday afternoon, April 1, at 1:30 o'clock.

George F. Croyle

George Frederick Croyle died on Thursday, January 21, at his home at Queen, aged 67 years, seven months and 17 days. He had been an invalid for several years but suffered a paralytic stroke a few days before his death.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Harvey of Youngstown, O., and Elvin, Ellsworth and Mrs. Maiben Dellinger of near Queen.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday in the Greenfield Reformed Church by Rev. J. A. Garver of Pleasantville.

Non-Residents Admitted to Membership

Young men from the towns and country surrounding Bedford may now hold non-resident membership in the Young Men's Association of Bedford. This action was taken by a unanimous vote of the board of directors of the Association at a meeting held on Monday evening in the Association's rooms in the Ridenour Block.

The non-resident membership carries with it the full privileges of the Association, including the right to vote and free use of the rooms and equipment of the organization under the regulations imposed by the board of trustees. Any man of good character is eligible provided he has reached the second half of his eighteenth year, and is willing to sign an agreement to conform to the Association's regulations.

It was decided that the annual dues for non-resident members shall be $2.00 per year, with an initiation fee of $1. The dues have been made low in order that as many men as possible may enjoy the benefits of the Association. The dues and initiation fee shall be deposited with the treasurer at the time application is made for membership.

Application should be made to William Beam, treasurer, Bedford. The application must be approved by the board of directors, and upon its approval the treasurer shall issue the applicant a membership card which entitles him to the full privileges of the Association.

Belgian Relief

During the past two weeks $0 garments have been made and sent to the Belgian widows and orphans. These garments consisted of dresses and petticoats for the women and children and socks, caps and booties for the babies. The ladies who so kindly helped in this good work were Mrs. S. F. Statler and daughters, Mrs. J. A. Clark, Mrs. Charles Brode, Miss Cora McGirr, Miss Jessie Barclay, Mrs. J. C. Lyon, Mrs. S. S. Metzger and daughters, Mrs. Frederick Metzger, Mrs. Doty, Miss Ellen Doty, Mrs. John Lutz, Miss Mary Donahoe, Miss Bausch and Mrs. John C. Smith. A donation in money was sent by other parties.

Mrs. Lida A. Morris

Mrs. Lida A. Morris, widow of the late David S. Morris, and one of New Castle's most highly respected citizens, died at her home in that city on Tuesday of last week. She was born at Loysburg and was the last survivor of a family of twelve children of Martin and Elizabeth Ferguson Loy. One daughter, Mrs. John M. Butz, survives. She was a resident of Bedford for many years.

Removal

The First National Bank will take up temporary quarters in the law offices of B. F. Madore, Esq., in The Gazette Building next Tuesday or Wednesday. Work will be begun at once on the tearing down of the present building and the erection of a large handsome building to be occupied by the bank and the Bedford County Trust Company.

Hall-Brown

William Lloyd Hall and Miss Catherine Brown, daughter of J. H. Brown, the well known miller of Loysburg, were married on Wednesday of last week by Rev. G. M. Shiner at the bride's home. The groom is a mail carrier on the route between Loysburg and Curry.

AN INTERESTING BIT OF CORRESPONDENCE

A communication in the nature of an intimidation or threat is being mailed from Harrisburg to the clergymen of the State, warning them against admitting to their pulpits representatives of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League. This communication, with a reply mailed to its author by one of Bedford's clergymen has been submitted for publication, and is as follows:

"A Square Deal"

1st. Our candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, Dr. Brumbaugh, stood on the same personal Local Option Platform in November, as did the other candidates. His inaugural confirms his honesty of purpose.

2d. The Anti-Saloon League Superintendents, Leaders, Editors and Speakers abused him and his party from start to finish.

3d. The A. S. L. writers claim to have collected "a million dollars a year for twenty years." Most of this has come from the pockets of Republican church members through church collections and gone into the pockets of A. S. L. managers.

4th. If pastors endorse the abuse by permitting the abusers to occupy their pulpits for begging purposes, should not Republicans thereafter absent themselves from the ministries of such pastors?

A. U. Leader.

Bedford, Pa., January 22, 1915.

Mr. A. U. Leader,

Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—In reply to your communication entitled, "A Square Deal," I beg leave to submit the following:

1st. I grant you that Dr. Brumbaugh stood on the same personal, though not the same party Local Option Platform in November, as did the other candidates, and so far as I know, no one questions his honesty of purpose.

2d. The Anti-Saloon League Superintendents, Leaders, Editors and Speakers commended Dr. Brumbaugh for his personal stand, and only advised against his election because of the known antagonism to Local Option, of his party, and of most of his political associates on the Republican party ticket. But now that Dr. Brumbaugh has been elected, and in his splendid inaugural address, has reiterated his personal position with reference to Local Option, he will have no more loyal supporters nor efficient helpers in his endeavor to carry out his personal pledge upon this question than these same Anti-Saloon League Superintendents, Leaders, Editors and Speakers. And if the Republican party will cooperate with their Governor in his personal efforts for Local Option, they will find the Anti-Saloon League ready to apologize for its pre-election course, and to work hand in hand with them for the enactment of the Local Option legislation which Dr. Brumbaugh so strongly recommends.

3d. The claim of the Anti-Saloon League is probably correct. The money, however, has come from the pockets of Christian men and women of all parties who are seeking the overthrow of the licensed saloon, and it has been used in carrying on the immensely widespread and effective educational and legislative work which has made the Anti-Saloon League the most powerful, as also the most feared, and the most hated foe of the liquor traffic.

4th. Pastors do not usually admit the representatives of the Anti-Saloon League to their pulpits without the sanction of the official boards, or the governing bodies of their churches. The representatives of the Anti-Saloon League, so far as my knowledge goes, do not use their church privileges to abuse anybody, much less the men or the parties who are consistently working for the overthrow of the liquor traffic. Neither do they beg. They simply present their cause upon its merits, giving Christian men and women the privilege of contributing thereto, if they so desire. However, if any Republicans, or members of any other political party, prefer to stand with their party for the saloon, rather than with their church against the saloon, it is their privilege to absent themselves from the ministries of their churches and pastors.

Sincerely hoping that the Republican party will give Governor Brumbaugh "A Square Deal" in his efforts to make good his personal pledges to the people of our great Commonwealth, I am,

Yours very truly,

George W. Faus.

Sunday Song Service by Young Men's Association

The first of a series of Sunday afternoon song services for men will be held at 2:15 p. m., in the rooms of the Young Men's Association in the Ridenour Block. The singing will be led by the Association's quartet, and the red song book will be used.

Rev. H. E. Wileand of Trinity Lutheran Church will give a ten-minute talk on the subject of "The Business of Being a Man." The men of Bedford, regardless of whether or not they hold membership in the Association, are invited to attend these Sunday afternoon meetings. Those who have red song books are asked to bring their books with them. The open to men from 12:30 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoons.

A Men's Chorus will be organized at 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening in the Association's rooms in the Ridenour Block. The chorus will be under the direction of Prof. J. Dale Diehl. All men over eighteen years old who can sing, or who think they can sing, or who enjoy singing, are invited to join.

Good News

A matter of good news for everybody is the fact that the Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's Reformed Church will have another of their famous oyster suppers in the rooms at D. O. Smith's Cafe, next door to Grand Central Hotel, on next Thursday evening, February 4th. A few years ago the ladies had one of these suppers and it proved so popular that they are tempted to repeat it at this time. The attraction consists in the fact that the oysters are different from those ordinarily to be had in Bedford. They will be taken from the shell Wednesday night and served fresh to you on Thursday. That's the secret of the flavor. Get your tickets early.

Sturges-Grove

Harry Sturges of Ore Hill and Miss Veranda Grove of Altoona were married at the Presbyterian manse on Saturday, January 23.

Bedford's Enterprises

Once upon a time there lived in the city of K—a man, who for want of a better name, we will call Tom. Tom was a mighty good fellow in more ways than one. While he was not perfect by any means his faults were lost sight of and his imperfections were entirely hidden by his better qualities. Of his many good qualities the one which stood out paramount was a love for his home town—a love to see it prosper, an earnest desire to see its bone and sinew—the laboring element—honestly employed at wages that would comfortably feed and clothe those in that class of its inhabitants. Tom was wealthy or at least was so regarded by those who knew him best; safe it is to say that when a business proposition for individual gain was proposed to him he could and would say "no" with such vim and vigor that no doubt was left in the mind of the inquirer as to its being genuine.

Among the many tracts of land owned by him was one of several acres which adjoined the town on the one side and skirted the railroad for a distance of half a mile or more, and by the placing of a switch a few hundred yards in length the celebrated B. & O. could gain access thereto. This, as well as several other virtues, made it a very desirable property to contractor and speculator, but to all such overtures Tom's "no" proved an effective embargo. Finally a firm seeking a site for a factory that would give employment to fifty or more men approached him upon the subject of location, his "no" quickly gave place to "yes" and the factory was built. This was but an opening and today several industries adorn the town that but for the generosity of Uncle Tom, as he is familiarly known, would not have been.

What Bedford needs today is a spirit of generosity and enterprise similar to that manifested by the town of K—a few years since. When the B. & O. Company was seeking a location for their repair shops K—put in a bid and was told that if the town would donate $10,000 it could have the shops. This was asked, not as a donation but to prove the spirit behind the demand. The sum asked for was quickly subscribed but has been returned time and time again and today K—is as thriving a town as can be found along the B. and O.

The Bedford spirit is exactly the reverse of that of K—. If an industry seeks to locate here the price of land immediately advances and by the time the site agents put in an appearance the sum asked is so exorbitant that no consideration is given to the so-called advantages, and he passes on to other fields and Bedford is left alone in her undisturbed solitude.

We have a Board of Trade supposed to be made up of the vim, vigor and enterprise of the borough's select, but if the board's ability is to be recorded by its results we are compelled to write it "nit."

Personally, I think that the Belshazzar spirit is the predominating one with the board and that their motto should be, "Eat, drink and be merry."

Our Board of Trade has been weighed in the balance and found wanting and it is necessary to look in some other direction for succor, so why not organize a Citizen's Club to beat up business so the idle men and boys about town would have employment?

What is wrong about a furniture factory? Chairs, bedsteads, tables, stands, etc. Thousands of feet of our lumber could thus be utilized at home and manufactured into valuable products.

A mercantile canning establishment would furnish a market for surplus fruit, vegetables, etc., and would greatly increase the interest in gardening.

Dozens of enterprises could be suggested but results come from actions and the father of actions is Brain and Brawn. One Interested.

JUST IN TIME

Some Bedford People May Wait Till It's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late. Be sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney pills. Means curing the backache, the dizziness, the urinary disorders. That so often come with kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for this very purpose.

Here is testimony to prove their merit.

W. H. Blume, carpenter, 231 Beachy St., Meyersdale, Pa., says: "I was troubled by my kidneys. I couldn't sleep well and sharp pains darted through the small of my back. I didn't know what to do. My druggist suggested that I use Doan's Kidney Pills and I did. I want to say that they are all right. I took about three boxes and am now feeling better than ever. I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends and keep them on hand at all times." Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Blume had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Ad. 29Jan29

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Catarrh a Danger Sign—Hymecol the Remedy—Guaranteed by F. W. Jordan, Jr.

There is no more annoying like-wise serious ailment than catarrh, which is indicated by sniffling, raising of mucus and frequent colds. If it is not cured it will surely affect the delicate lining of the air passages, and frequently destroys the hearing.

Hymecol is the effective and reliable remedy for all catarrh ills—you breathe it, using a small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit. The antiseptic medication of Hymecol simply has to reach all the sore, raw and inflamed surfaces of the air passages. Its healing begins at once—you feel better after the first treatment—even almost hopeless cases respond quickly.

Hymecol is inexpensive, and surely gives quick and permanent benefit. F. W. Jordan, Jr. sells it on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan. You certainly can afford to try this harmless remedy when there is nothing to pay if not benefited.—Adv. 22 Jan. 26

Time for Filing Income Tax Returns

For the information and guidance of corporations, individuals and withholding agents who are obliged to file income tax returns, Revenue Collector Fred C. Kirkendall calls attention to the following requirements:

A return must be filed by every person who had a net income of $3,000 or over for the calendar year 1914.

Failure by an individual, or a corporation whose return of annual net income is based on the calendar year, to file a return on or before March 1st subjects them to an additional tax of 50 per cent. and makes them liable to a penalty of not less than $20 nor more than $1,000.

The taxpayer should not wait until the last week when through inadvertence or oversight he may fail to file his return on time and thus subject himself to additional taxes and penalties.

Persons against whom tax has been withheld from salaries, rent, or any other form of income have the right to file, either with the withholding agent or the Revenue Collector form 1008 claiming deductions and refund. This form must be filed not later than 30 days prior to March 1st and the annual returns of withholding agents should therefore not be filed until after January 23. Each return must, however, be filed on or before March first.

After the filing by the individual of form 1008 the withholding agent will return to him all tax withheld except on the amount of income in excess of the deductions and exemptions claimed.

Information required in connection with the preparation and filing of income tax returns will be furnished upon application therefor, either in writing or in response to personal inquiry at the Internal Revenue office in Lancaster, Pa.

PUSHING THE SHIP BILL

Washington, D. C., January 25.—The action of the Democrats in the Senate a few days ago, in pledging themselves unanimously to the support of the bill for the purchase of ships has elicited the overwhelming approval of the country.

Since August 1st, when more than half of the world became involved in war, ships bearing an aggregate of five million tons, have been withdrawn from commerce. Our great cotton crop of 1914, which is literally weeping for the opportunity of getting into the European markets, would be greatly benefited if Uncle Sam possessed an adequate merchant marine. There is a great demand in Europe for our lumber, grain, and other farm products, but not nearly enough ships with which to export them. And so if we had an adequate number of ocean carrying ships with which to handle the vast manufacturing and agricultural output of this country business would be flourishing to an unusual degree, in every State in the Union. The bill provides for an issue of thirty million dollars ($30,000,000) Government bonds, with which to purchase and to build a merchant marine with which to meet this problem. The bill is broad in its provision and the Government can if it wishes turn this enterprise over to private individuals after it is once organized if it sees fit to do so.

The Political Conspiracy

As was pointed out by your Washington correspondent recently there is an organized effort on foot to sidetrack President Wilson in 1916.

Governor Ferris of Michigan recently created a sensation before the State Central Democratic Committee of Michigan by stating that a plot has been formed all over the country with the idea of nominating some other man in 1916 than President Wilson. The "other man" is no other than Champ Clark and the chief villain or plotter and financial backer of the movement or plot is no other than William R. Hearst. Though if Hearst learns later that he would be better able to oppose the renomination of Wilson by backing some other candidate than Champ Clark he would not hesitate to do so.

Every Democrat of any experience knows that the name of Woodrow Wilson is the greatest asset that the Democratic party possesses today and if the Democracy should be foolish enough to even consider any other man it would simply be throwing a sure victory away and inviting certain defeat. It was the power of President Wilson's name that enabled the Democratic party to retain its control of the House of Representatives in the election last fall and to increase its majority in the Senate from 10 to 16. Every Democratic candidate for the Senate and House appealed to the voters to "send me to Washington to support President Wilson" in his wise, statesmanlike and patriotic measures. However, there is no likelihood that the Democratic party will be caught napping and allow the Hearst-Clark plotters or any other set of villains to prevent the renomination of President Wilson, which means his overwhelming re-election in 1916.

YOUR HAIR NEEDS

PARISIAN SAGE

It Quickly Removes Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair and Scalp Itch.

If your hair is full of dandruff, thin, streaky, dull and never will do up to look pretty, you can almost immediately remove the cause making it beautiful, thick and fluffy by the use of Parisian Sage, one of the most helpful and invigorating hair and scalp tonics known.

Parisian Sage not only saves your hair but stimulates the hair roots and furnishes the nourishment needed to make it grow long, abundant and radiant with life. Just one application removes every trace of dandruff and stops scalp itch—your hair becomes soft and fluffy with an incomparable gloss, beauty and charm.

You cannot be disappointed with this harmless and delicately perfumed tonic for there is nothing so good for your hair. It is easily applied at home and costs but a trifle from F. W. Jordan, Jr., or any drug counter.—Adv. 22 Jan. 26

Agriculture in Rural Schools

To the Teachers of Bedford County:

The demand for the teaching of agriculture in the public schools is growing stronger all the time. A feeling in the rural districts exists that the country school of today should train for the country life of tomorrow. In response to the demand for more practical instruction, that country children be taught in terms of their own lives, we have been for some time working out a plan or device for creating an interest in right things and securing the child's application to their accomplishment. We believe that one of the means of reaching this goal is the study and practice of agriculture and domestic science.

In many counties of the State boys and girls' clubs have been organized and have also been very potent factors in redirecting education along agricultural lines. We expect to be able to present in the near future plans of work that will be similar to those in existence in many of the States of the Middle West, and in many other counties in our own State.

To make this worthy movement the greatest possible success we need the earnest cooperation of every teacher and patron of Bedford County. Teachers should encourage the boys and the girls to take up this work, and should see to it at once that they are properly instructed in the elements of agriculture, particularly in the growing of corn and potatoes. The subject is not intended to take the place of any branch now in the curriculum, but to supplement and enrich the course of study in the rural schools.

The International Harvesting Machine Company, Chicago, publishes a number of pamphlets on the growing of corn, potatoes and other crops. These pamphlets can be secured for two and three cents per copy, and would be a great help to you in preparing your pupils for this work.

This work if properly carried out will awaken new interest in the affairs of the home and the farm. It will reach the parents and affect them in many useful ways. It will teach the boys and the girls the value of organized effort. It will lift our schools to a higher standing of efficiency.

Watch for the plan in the county papers. Respectfully submitted, Lloyd H. Hinkle.

Forestry

The following letter has been handed to me. I have been asked to withhold the author's name.

December 21, 1914.

Prof. L. H. Hinkle, Bedford, Pa.

Dear Prof. Hinkle: In order that we may create some interest in Forestry and Arbor Day, and at the same time start a system whereby the country school grounds may be made more beautiful, I wish to make to the school children of Bedford County, through you, the following offer:

That for the best article on Forestry written by a pupil of any of the schools of the county and submitted on or before the first day of June 1915, of not over 500 words, a sufficient number of trees, up to ten, will be furnished for planting on the grounds of the school of which that pupil is a member on the fall Arbor Day 1915. The trees are to be of suitable species for the locality and about eight feet high. In case no trees are needed for that particular school ground, by reason of its having a sufficient number of trees thereon, then a like amount of money will be expended in hedge vines or plants for planting, and in case either is not needed a like amount of money will be given for interior decorations. The article must contain the pupil's name and age, name of school and name of teacher.

Hoping that this plan will meet with your approval, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, Lloyd H. Hinkle, County Superintendent.

February Popular Mechanics

Strong as imagination is, printed text cannot convey to the average citizen of the United States any adequate idea of war and the conditions attending and succeeding war as Europe is now experiencing them. Pictures more nearly suffice to tell the story, and so it is on pictures—actual photographs from the war zone—that Popular Mechanics Magazine largely relies in handling the subject. The February number contains sixteen consecutive pages of these views showing something of nearly every phase of the war. In all, this issue contains 250 articles and 359 illustrations.

The Shop Notes and Amateur Mechanics departments contain a large amount of useful, practical information. Many illustrations accompany the text, and every article is "written so you can understand it."

Stomach Trouble Quickly Cured

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years, and imagine they have a serious disease. They over-eat or over-drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work, but they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do the extra work.

If these people would take Tonic Tablets regularly they would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of over-work. No matter what you eat or drink Tonic tabs sweeten your sour stomach and stop gas belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears, and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

Tonic

Tablets not only promptly relieve all distress, but if taken regularly will absolutely cure indigestion by building up the flabby, overworked walls of the stomach and make them strong enough to digest the most hearty meal. $1 for a 50 days' treatment. THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Bedford Gazette.—Adv. 22Jan26

Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Greatest and Most Marvelous of All Celebrations, Opens Completed In Every Detail on Feb. 20, 1915

Forty of the World's Great Nations to Join With America In Celebrating the Opening of the Panama Canal In a Conclave Unsurpassed In History.

Wonderful Exhibits From All Lands Show the World's Best Progress

From Beginning to End Magnificent Panama-Pacific International Exposition Will Abound With Superb Educational and Entertainment Features.

By HAMILTON WRIGHT.
THE construction of the vast Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco was 95 per cent completed three months before the opening day, on Feb. 20, 1915. The early installation of thousands of tons of rare and costly exhibits from all parts of the globe and the participation of forty of the world's great countries have assured a celebration that will be unrivaled in its splendor, magnitude, interest and comprehensiveness.

From its opening until its close, on Dec. 4, 1915, the Exposition will abound with original features collected at an expenditure of many millions of dollars. It will present a cross section of human achievement. The Pan-

Francisco in a single day, and, far in advance of its opening, the Exposition had created an unprecedented interest throughout the world, and its opening was eagerly awaited.

In keen competitive exhibits there will be presented more than 80,000 single exhibits and groups of related exhibits portraying the results of the world's best efforts in recent years.

This wonderful Exposition, presented at an outlay of more than $60,000,000, celebrates a contemporaneous achievement, the building of the Panama canal, and all exhibits that are entered for competitive award will be those that have been originated or produced since the great Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis ten years ago. The possible exception to this rule will be where earlier exhibits are fare work will, for example, see in the Palace of Mines an exhibit three-fourths of an acre in extent, illustrating the manner in which the largest steel corporation in the world is caring for and plans to still further advance the welfare of its employees. In the Palace of Education they will be interested in a great United States government exhibit.

The great war in no way has diminished the prospect of attendance at the Exposition, and thousands of Americans will for the first time enjoy the educative trip across their native land. After the outbreak of the conflict the number of conventions deciding to meet in San Francisco proportionately increased. One of the most important of the assemblages will be the international engineering

Big International Exposition's Amusements Novel and Wonderful

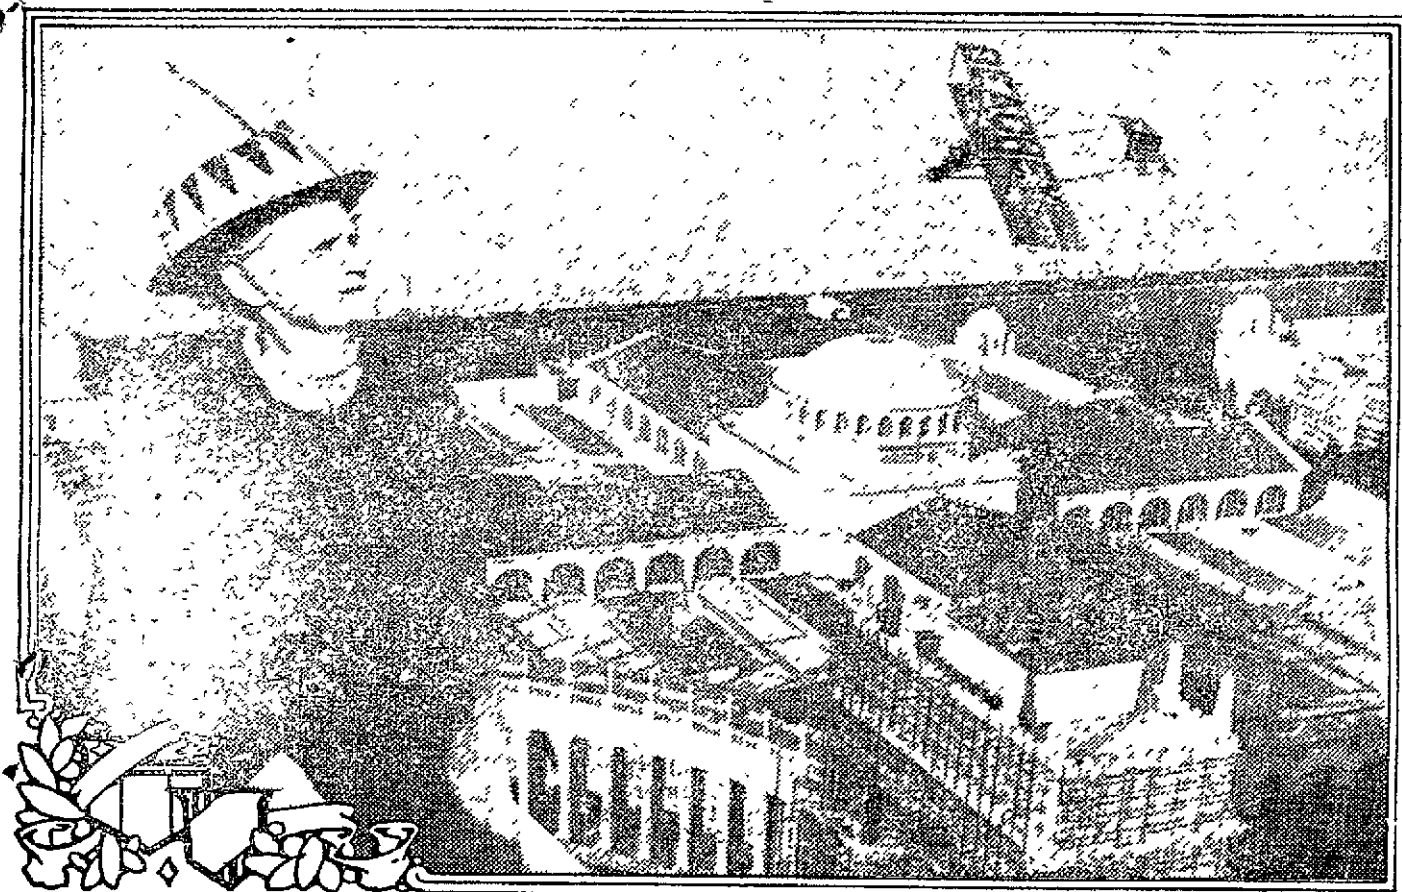

President Wilson Will Visit Panama-Pacific Display of Nations via Panama Canal--Vanderbilt Cup Race and Grand Prix Will Be Held In San Francisco

By HAMILTON WRIGHT.
WONDERFUL and novel amusements, parades and pageants of the oriental countries, auto and yacht races and athletic contests will be observed upon a scale of unexampled magnitude and grandeur at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The extensive participation of China, Japan, Siam and Indo and Cochinchina, when taken in connection with the plans already made and with the interesting oriental population of San Francisco, assures such spectacles as have never before been seen in the occident. Pageants of miles in length set off by wonderful floats and marvelous pyrotechnics will wind through the streets of San Francisco. There will be held throughout the this event. The famous Salt Lake Mormon choir the deep toned plaintive singers of Hawaii and even a chorus of fifty Maorian singers will take part in the choral events. At an expenditure of $1,250,000 the Exposition has constructed a great Auditorium in the civic center of San Francisco, which will be used by the great conventions and song festivals. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Crane will present their latest terpsichorean novelty, the "Exposition Tango." Mr. Harry Lauder will sing the Exposition barad.

The amusement section of the Exposition, the "Zone," corresponding to the famous "Midway" at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago will carry out the purpose of the Exposition to give every feature a high educational value.

tional railways. The Grand Canyon concession is built upon so prodigious a scale that visitors will view the canyons from a standard gauge railway coach running on a standard gauge track. A huge working model of the Panama canal is so extensive that visitors seated in comfortable theater chairs will be carried along the route of the canal upon a movable platform, and a dictaphone at the arm of each chair will describe each scene as it comes into view. A novel amusement feature will be provided by working submarine boats of sixty-five tons displacement, which will operate in an artificial lagoon. THE MOTHER OF LINCOLN BEACHEY, FROM THE TOWER OF JEWELS, 435 FEET ABOVE THE EARTH, AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, WATCHES HER SON LOOP HIS ONE THOUSANDTH LOOP.

When Lincoln Beachey, a son of San Francisco, on the occasion of his becoming after breaking all world records as a daredevil loop of 999 loops, performed two entirely new and death defying stunts over the completed palaces of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition it was his aged mother who for the first time waved him on to fresh achievements. Mrs. Beachey held a place of honor, 435 feet up in the air, on the tiptop of the wonderful Tower of Jewels. From this aerial she was able to watch every erratic move of her daredevil son. She cried out only once. That was when he wrote the figures "1000" against the clouds, high above the two miles of completed exhibit palaces, significant of the looping of his one thousandth loop.

as a canal is today open and doing business on a far vaster scale than was predicted for it, and the Exposition, which celebrates the opening of the canal, is today revealed as the greatest manifestation of national achievement in American history. Here will be a neutral ground where even nations engaged in warfare will display on a scale never before equaled their progress in the arts, industries and sciences of peace.

Within three months before the opening of the Exposition as many as 2,000 tons of consignments had reached San shown to illustrate the evolution of the processes of manufacture—as, for example, a display of a model of the first cotton gin in connection with the marvelous equipment into which it has evolved.

Many of the displays will be especially adapted to study by the delegates to great national and international congresses and conventions, of which more than 300, embracing almost every phase of human activity, have voted to meet in San Francisco in 1915. Delegates to the congresses interested in social progress and welcongress, at which its distinguished chairman, Colonel George W. Goethals, will preside.

The foreign participation will be notable. The nations are not attempting to show everything that they produce, but will lay especial emphasis upon those products in which they excel. In the Danish display, for example, will be shown products of the Royal Danish porcelain factory at Copenhagen. Japan in her exhaustive exhibit will display priceless works of art, loaned by direction of the Imperial household and many of which could not be duplicated. From Italy will be shown historic paintings of the old masters, hitherto never exhibited in America in the originals. From China there have reached San Francisco selections of exhibits collected under the supervision of the governors of the Chinese provinces. Rare silks and satins, carvings, inlay work in the precious metals, exhibits of the transportation methods employed in the old China and the modern methods used in the awakening republic will be shown.

New Zealand will make a marvelous exhibit of its rare woods, of its fleeces, of its superb scenic charms. A large number of rare giant tree ferns from New Zealand will be found growing on the Exposition grounds.

The Argentine Republic early set aside a larger sum than any ever appropriated by a foreign nation for representation in an American exposition. The modern cities of Argentina, the schools, churches, libraries, the great live stock and agricultural interests will be extensively portrayed, and the mutual interests of South America and North America will be emphasized in almost every conceivable manner. From South Africa will be shown diamond exhibits and methods of extraction. The magnificent Canadian displays will reveal not only the widely known agricultural wealth, but will illustrate the scenic charms of the great Dominion, of snow clad mountain peaks, of farreaching forest, of inland lakes in chains of silver and rushing mountain streams.

WONDERFUL GLASS DOME OF THE PALACE OF HORTICULTURE, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

entire period of the Exposition, which opens Feb. 20, 1915, a series of great events, including sports and athletic contests of many kinds conducted upon a scale of great magnitude.

The Vanderbilt Automobile Cup Race and the Grand Prix, the two supreme events of the automobile year, will be held upon a four mile course, embracing a circuit of the Exposition palaces, a spectacular background far excelling in beauty and grandeur any which ancient Rome beheld during its historic chariot races. The Vanderbilt Cup Race will take place on Feb. 22 and the Grand Prix on Feb. 27, 1915. Great motorboats of the deep sea cruiser type will race for a $10,000 prize from New York through the Panama canal to the Golden Gate. A series of international yacht races in the twenty-one meter class will be held in San Francisco bay. President Woodrow Wilson, Emperor William of Germany and King George of England have each offered trophies in these events. Swimming, water polo, fly casting, canoeing, football, baseball and long distance foot racing are included in a series of more than 200 different kinds of contests. President Wilson himself will attend the Exposition, and it is probable the members of congress will attend in an especially chartered steamer.

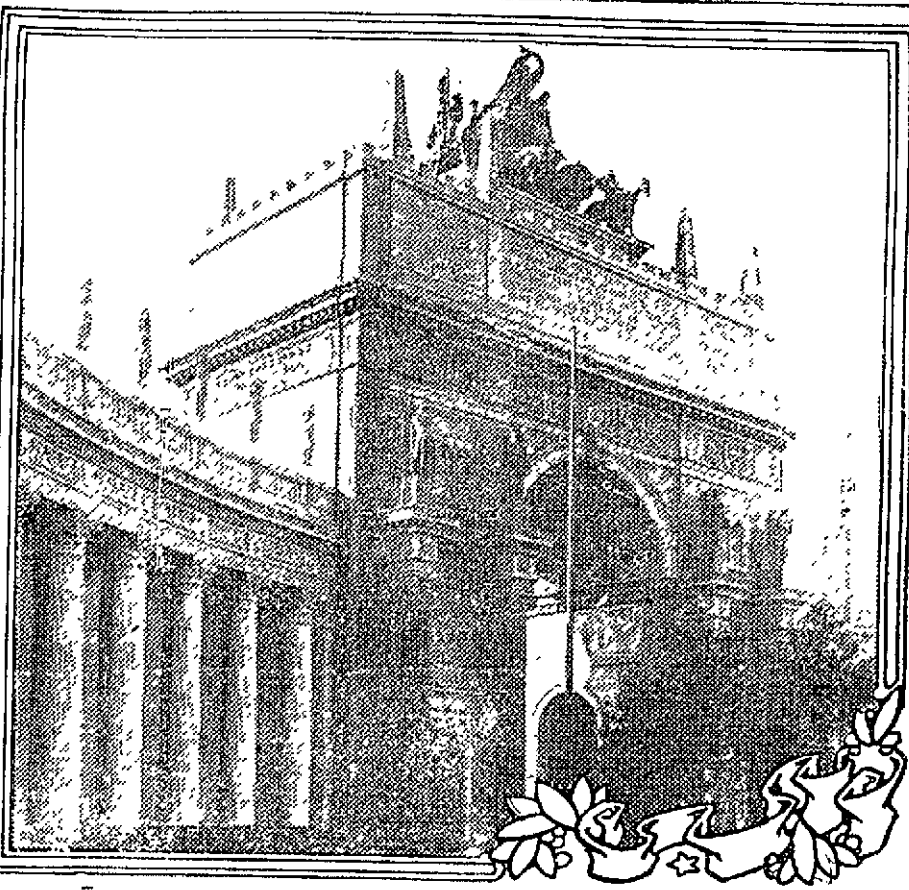

Of international interest will be the greatest live stock show in the world's history. More than $500,000 will be awarded in prizes in a continuous live stock exhibit. Rare and valuable breeds of all kinds of live stock from distant countries of the globe will be shown. Specimens of the famous Chillingham wild white cattle will be exhibited for the first time. With the exception of two specimens at the London zoo, this breed has never been shown outside of Chillingham park, England. These cattle are pure white, with black noses, black tips to the ears and black horns. An international sheep shearing contest will be one of the unique exhibitions.

For the musical events there has been built by the Exposition the magnificent Festival Palace upon the grounds. This is equipped with a wonderful pipe organ, upon which Mr. Edwin Lemare, world famous organist, among other celebrities will give a series of recitals. The international Eisteddfod will at San Francisco compete for $25,000 in cash prizes. More than 20,000 singers will participate in

Imagine for the purposes of illustration, the interest, action and novelty of ten great circuses like Barnum & Bailey's combined into a single "greatest show on earth" and presented at ten times the cost of the single production and an idea is gained of the originality of this section. A total of more than eleven millions of dollars has been expended in its establishment. The concessions, as these less serious features of the Exposition are known, include a great open air panoramic reproduction of the Yellowstone National park and a similar representation of the Grand Canyon of Arizona, presented by two of the transconer arm, will raise sightseers more than 325 feet above San Francisco bay, affording an unsurpassed view of the Exposition City and the Golden Gate.

Apart from the amusements, conventions and congresses, the vast pageants, the superb pavilions of the nations and the magnificent state buildings, the Exposition itself is a sight well worth seeing. The giant exhibit palaces, the loftiest and most imposing exposition buildings ever constructed, are in their architecture representative of the finest work of a commission of famous American architects, who freely collaborated with distinguished members of this profession abroad.

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 29, 1915.

Penrose County That would be a blossom to Pennsylvania

The first three months of the government's experience with marine insurance against war risks, made necessary by the frightened state of mind of the private companies, shows a profit of $295,000, made up of $300,000 received in premiums for fifteen million of risks written, and $5,000 paid in losses. This is one feature of the administration's work which will not be referred to in Republican campaign speeches.—Commoner.

The lecture Wednesday evening had too much individual ire in its delivery. The lecturer must know that there are just as honest and trustworthy people in the hotel business as there is in any other business. There is no fault with any individual but with the law. Most of the hotel people are Christians and contribute liberally to the support of the church and all its benevolences. The fault lay with the legislatures and the present body of law makers are not going to give any remedy in this session, is our prediction, and we will tell you from time to time the progress made in this line. Governor Brumbaugh is for a Local Option law but time will tell whether his wish will result in action as well as words. The public press stated he was in bad company before election and the same public press thinks so yet and will continue to so think, until the fine language of the Doctor is transformed into law. If a Local Option measure passes the House it will be killed by the Senate and we have our doubts about the House. We sincerely hope for a Local Option Law, if Dr. Brumbaugh can give it to us.

WHO OWNS OUR COUNTRY?

We are sure of one thing, the people do not.—Theodore F. Thieme.

THE COST OF RENT

The editor noticed this week in an exchange, a pathetic plea, evidently signed by some man who was out of work, for some form of employment. The writer thereof said the cost of rent had so increased as to prevent working people from accumulating any savings for use in such need as has resulted this winter from the European war.

In many places the landlord must now pay twice as much as formerly to get a house painted. Plumbing, papering, and mason work are similarly costly. It is only to be expected that the mechanic should now be asked to pay a largely increased rent bill.

Social economists must give a great deal of thought to the question of how a comfortable home can be provided working people at a moderate cost. A man working on $15 a week ought not to have to pay more than $12 a month for rent. Yet the letter referred to stated that the writer thereof earned but $12 a week in good times, yet had to pay $15 a month for his rent.

In many places cheap wood "three decker" tenements are the favorite means of housing work people inexpensively. These are often of the most flimsy construction, and may constitute a fire risk and also injure the appearance of a city. Some social reformers say the solution is to be found in blocks of connected houses. Possibly this is the case, though it reduces light, air, and comfort to an extent that seems needless except in the larger places.

If people would acquire the habit of living farther in the outskirts of a town, and depend more on walking to work and social pleasures, they should be able to balance the higher cost of building by the lower cost of land. The habit of living in the outskirts makes room for gardening, and gives the children healthful life. To many of us, such a home would look far better than a tiny flat or crowded block.

THE WHITE HOUSE BABY AND HIS FUTURE

The little offshoot of the Wilson family, born in the White House, the son to Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Sayre, is theoretically only an ordinary sprout of our American democracy. Under our ideas of equality, he must take his buffetings with the rest of his generation.

Practically, the luster of distinguished origin always attaches to the stripling. In school he will be pointed out as a President's grandson. Sometimes such children, if of a self-conscious nature, find this prominence embarrassing. Envious companions may torment the life out of their favored comrades, by continually twitting them or their distinguished ancestry.

More commonly parents drill their youngsters to flatter and fawn upon the offspring of prominent personages. The latter find themselves surrounded by artificial conditions. Everything comes too easy. Social honors are forced on them, they are favored in athletic and even school scholastic awards.

When the scion of a famous family enters business, their name alone is worth a substantial salary. Having the best education that these schools can give, and with all the real advantages of a fine inheritance, they must be weak indeed if they cannot maintain a good position in life.

These soft and favoring conditions do not develop the most rugged characters. The majority of men holding conspicuous positions had humble birth. But more and more the people in high life realize that their children, if they are to amount to anything, must be left as much as possible to force their own way. No doubt this will be the attitude of the Wilson family. If a fellow from such an origin can go through life and maintain a modest and democratic demeanor, he shows there is good stuff in him that would have won its way if he had to climb unaided.

THE RECOGNITION OF HEROISM

The annual award has just been made of Carnegie hero fund medals and prizes. It is a significant phase of this work that of the 44 acts of heroism, 13 of the heroes lost their lives. They took desperate chances. Most of the heroes are young men and women, indicating that persons with older heads and more prudence do not take these risks.

Apparently the recipients of these prizes are mostly obscure persons. As the people who do things are little given to talk, it is probable that they would attract less than the average amount of attention. A man capable of these generous acts has large possibilities for service. The result of giving these awards must be larger openings in the world for young people possessing fine qualities, who otherwise might remain in the background unnoticed.

The larger part of the heroic acts thus noticed result from some one's carelessness. If people kept out of deep water until they could swim well, if they were cautious about fire, if they kept off thin ice, if they would not run risks with trains, few people would have to risk their lives to save others from peril. Many would-be rescuers would today be alive.

Acts of heroism are performed in every locality for which no recognition is ever made. Physicians, nurses, and others who care for contagious diseases, firemen who venture into burning shells of buildings, police who hunt out criminals from dark hiding places, are heroes to whom no medals are ever given. The fact that such acts are a part of the service for which people in a certain profession are paid, does not detract from their generous quality.

The annual distribution handsome rewards through the Carnegie commission is thus a fine act of service. Also it might well be wished that more recognition could be given, and more gratitude should be felt, for those daily acts of daring service that are constantly being performed around us in the ordinary callings of life.

THE HIGH COST OF DISTRIBUTION, NO. 2

A farmer living in the outskirts of a large town tried to market some potatoes at the grocery stores in that place. He was unable to dispose of them. Finally he sent them to a commission merchant a hundred miles away. Coming into the neighborhood a few days later, he found that some of the grocers were selling his potatoes. They had paid freight over 200 miles of distance and at least one middleman's profit, plus several carting charges.

Another farmer living near a medium sized city went in one day and tried to market a supply of apples. He spent the forenoon going the rounds of the grocery stores. None of them would look at his product or any part of it. At noon he sold the wagonload to a wholesaler. He remained around the town until night. Just before leaving he had the satisfaction of seeing a barrel of his apples being opened in front of a grocery store that had refused to buy them direct from him. The grocer had paid one cartage and a middleman's profit, all of which was cheerfully charged up to the consumer. Whoever stops to ask whether all this machinery is necessary?

Governor Glynn of New York in a recent address before a convention of cooperative societies, remarked that the farmer gets only 35 cents on every dollar that the consumer pays for his product. Several farmers present said the Governor had put the farmer's share too high. Who gets the rest?

At this meeting one farmer told of making a personal investigation in New York City, to see what the consumer was paying for his food products. He went in at one time when potatoes were very scarce and the farmer was getting $1.35 a bushel. The consumer was paying $1.50 to $2.00. He looked the matter up a second time when potatoes were very plenty, and the farmer was getting only 15 cents a bushel. He was not able to find that the consumer was paying appreciably less.

No wonder the middlemen become wealthy!

A Big Time in the Valley

Last Saturday evening the Odd Fellows of Cumberland Valley exceeded all previous efforts of the Valley in social lines when they held their annual banquet.

The lodge met in regular session and conferred the second degree on three candidates, the door was then opened for their guests and they kept coming in until the large room was filled. Every chair was taken and the men perched on the floor. Dr. Stoner presided and a program of music, recitations and addresses was rendered. Dr. Stoner and Mr. Snowden were particularly fortunate in their selections of recitations and brought down the house in rounds of applause. District Deputy Irvine and Past Grand Pate and Brightbill of Bedford and Past Grand Cessna of Uniontown contributed to the pleasure of the evening by timely addresses. The music was well rendered by the quartet and the chorus.

About this time it was announced that supper was ready, the lodge boys joined in the singing of the closing ode of the order for the benefit of the visiting ladies, and they sang it as only it can be sung by the Valley boys. Every fellow found his wife or sweetheart and joined in a march to the dining hall. And here is where everyone could take part and without doubt it was the most enjoyable part of the program, for Mrs. Nave surely did herself justice on that dinner. It was a turkey dinner—a five course—and all the trimmings, too much to tell what was there at the beginning, but not much left after the one hundred and fifty-six banqueters had departed and voted the evening to be the best ever had in the Valley.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BAN ON RUM PAYS FOR WAR

Increased Savings, Due to Prohibition, Offsets Cost in Russia.

Petrograd, January 25.—M. Kharitonoff, Comptroller of the Russian Treasury, speaking before the Duma Budget Committee today, declared that owing to the great increase in the national savings, due to prohibition, the extraordinary outlay occasioned by the war had caused no great suffering as yet in Russia.

As a proof of this, M. Kharitonoff said the national savings in December, 1913, which amounted to 700,000 rubles ($350,000), had increased to 29,100,000 rubles ($14,550,000) in December, 1914. He added that the total savings for 1913 amounted to 34,000,000 rubles ($17,000,000) as compared with 8,000,000 rubles ($4,000,000) for 1914.

TRACERS

O what has become of the old-fashioned boy
Who didn't talk back to his pa?
And what has become of the girl—
Such a joy—
Who didn't know lots more than ma?
They have wandered away; they have gone hand in hand.
With those others who mounted the skids,
Those old-fashioned parents who used to demand
A little respect from their kids.
And where can that old-fashioned fellow be found
Who gave up his seat in the car?
Who, pausing to chat with a woman,
Felt bound

To at once toss away his cigar?

He has gone, hand in hand, with the old-fashioned maid
Who used to say "Thanks" for the seat;

Who thought cigarettes, for men, even, a shade
Indecent, not merely effete.

O what has become of the man who would treat
All women as if they had wings?
Who'd not take a girl to hear actors repeat

The very improperest things?
He has gone, hand in hand, with the maiden who sang
Such songs as went well with a lute;

Who'd think songs suggestive and teeming with slang
Just vulgar, not catchy and cute.

This jolly world moves in a lot of new grooves
And brightly dawn many new days;
It's a good world, you bet, growing better and yet—

There was sense in some old-fashioned ways.
Now if you had command of the whole blessed land
Where would you start to put on lids?

Can you think of a better beginner, off-hand,
Than inspiring respect in the kids?
—Kansas City Star.

A Bedford County Lad

Early in December Edward Burton Robinette, of the Philadelphia banking house of George S. Fox & Sons, left for Belgium as the representative of Mayor Blankenburg and the various Belgian relief committees to ascertain how the food and clothing sent to the Belgians from Philadelphia were being distributed.

Mr. Robinette is a Bedford County boy. In his youthful days he lived in Everett.

He made an automobile tour of Belgium. In his graphic and detailed report he says the clothing and food sent from Pennsylvania on the mercy ships have been carefully distributed and "most gratefully received by those noble but impoverished people." Mr. Robinette says the appreciation of the Belgium people for what is being done for them by the Americans is evident everywhere. On his way one Sunday from Vise to Liege, he passed a Catholic Church (Belgium is a Catholic country). It was about noon, and the people were leaving the church. A beautiful woman dressed in black, who was just leaving the church, motioned to Mr. Robinette as his automobile was passing. When the car stopped she came up to the American flag which was flying from his motor, and simply bowed to the flag and kissed her prayer-book. What a pathetic and inspiring living picture! This incident and many other scenes told Mr. Robinette more than words could tell that the stricken Belgians sincerely appreciate what the Americans are doing for them. He says he doubts if such a spectacle of absolute helplessness of a nation has ever before been presented in history.

There are seven million human beings living in Belgium. Eighty-thousand tons of food stuff will be required each month to prevent thousands from starving. Send your contribution to Mayor Blankenburg, or to the Belgian Relief Committee, Philadelphia. Do it now!—Phoebe Peters.

Special Tax

By an act passed by Congress on December 17, 1914, a special tax of one dollar per year has been imposed upon all persons who produce, import, manufacture, compound, deal in dispense, sell, distribute or give away opium or coca leaves, their salts, derivatives or preparations. The word "person" is defined to mean a partnership, association, company or corporation as well as a natural person.

The Act becomes operative on March 1, 1915, and the tax must be paid at that time for the four months ending June 30, 1915, the amount being 34 cents. On or before July 1, 1915, and each year thereafter, the tax of $1.00 will be required to be paid to cover the ensuing year.

In addition to the registration and payment of the $1.00 tax, as indicated above, it will be unlawful for any one so registered to dispose of any of the drugs named except upon the written order of the purchaser. These orders are provided by the Government and sold at the rate of $1.00 per hundred. The order blanks will be stamped with the name of the person who buys them, and cannot be used by any one else. Exceptions to these requirements are allowed in the cases of physicians, dentists and veterinary surgeons registered under the Act who use any of the drugs in their regular practice, and they must keep a record of the name and address of each such patient and the quantity used. Also a prescription of the physician, dentist or veterinary surgeon may be accepted by the seller of the drugs. The drugs can also be sold to any official of the United States or State, acting in his official capacity for use in the public service.

All orders and prescriptions are required to be kept for two years in such a manner as to be readily examined by any official of the State or United States.

This Act, it will be seen, has been passed in order to regulate the traffic in these noxious drugs, rather than to provide revenue. Its provisions are mandatory and must be complied with under a penalty of a fine of not more than $3,000, or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Druggists, physicians, dentists, veterinary surgeons are the ones particularly called upon to comply with this law.

Persons liable to this tax in the Ninth Internal Revenue District of Pennsylvania shall register with Hon. Fred C. Kirkendall, Collector, Lancaster, Pa.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Communication From Correspondent at National Capital.

Washington, D. C., January 26.—At a recent meeting held under the auspices of the International Peace Forum, over which Senator Sherman presided, John Hays Hammond urged that after peace is concluded in Europe, the Congress of the United States should call a peace conference which should formulate a plan for international amity, to include an agreement for concerted and permanent disarmament; the organization of a supreme court of nations, whose findings shall be accepted as conclusive and final by all; and an international police force, consisting of an army and navy only large enough to enforce the decrees of the international court. The plan is to have such a court supplement, not supplant, the court of arbitration at The Hague.

The fight for prohibition in the national House of Representatives was not successful. It would have required a two-thirds vote to propose the prohibition amendment to the Federal constitution.

The movement started in the Senate for absolute prohibition in the District of Columbia has come to naught for the present. The supporters of prohibition could not secure a two-thirds vote there, which was necessary in order to add the prohibition clause as a rider to the regular District appropriation bill.

Nearly 200 persons, many of whom were Washingtonians, were caught in a raid of the Maryland authorities upon a club located near the borders of the District of Columbia. It is alleged that betting on the races at New Orleans and Juarez, Mexico, was going on at the club house at the time the raid was made.

Red gamecocks thrive on diamond diet, according to Walter A. Kiefer, Secretary of the National Capitol Poultry and Pigeon Association, who lost a gem valued at $125. The diamond dropped from Mr. Kiefer's ring into a coop, and was gobbled up by a prize winner. The bird is valued at $500, and although Mr. Kiefer wanted to have it killed at once, he and the owner agreed that Prof. Roy H. Waite, of the agriculture experiment station, at College Park, Md., should operate on it in an attempt to recover the diamond.

The President's grandson, born at the White House on Sunday, the 17th of this month, is the object of most absorbing interest there, both in the executive mansion and in the vicinity of the President's office, where all who called on official and political business made a point of inquiring after the latest addition to the family.

This is the first baby born in the White House since the birth of Esther Cleveland, daughter of President and Mrs. Cleveland, and who was the only child of a President born there. There have been 11 children born in the White House since its construction.

The charge that President Wilson is building up a personal machine which will aid in procuring a second term was made recently on the floor of the House by Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican floor leader. We intimated that former Governor Folk of Missouri, now chief counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Joseph E. Davies, who is secretary of the National Democratic Committee and also Commissioner of Corporations, with every probability of being made Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, are the principals engaged in building up the machine. Representative Mann also called attention to the plank of the Democratic platform, adopted at Baltimore, pledging the party to the principle of one term for President, and declared that although the Democratic party had repudiated other planks, here was a pledge for which there was no excuse in the President not keeping.

On the other hand Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, as Republican standard bearer in 1916, was recommended by William A. Rodenberg, Republican representative-elect from Illinois. Mr. Rodenberg formerly served in the House when Senator Weeks also was a member of that body.

In giving reasons for new pacts with the Central American countries Secretary of State Bryan suggested that it was not unlikely that the United States some day would build another interoceanic waterway to supplement the Panama Canal, and explained that he regarded it as a wise precaution for the American government to negotiate treaties with Nicaragua and Costa Rica giving this country an option on a canal across that section of Central America.

Evidence of extraordinary advances in transatlantic freight rates since the outbreak of the European war, amounting in some instances to 900 and even 1,100 per cent., are presented in the joint report from Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield to the Senate. The increases in rates on grain are said to be 900 per cent.; on flour 500 per cent., and on cotton 700 per cent.

The other day President Wilson inaugurated the first transcontinental telephone system by speaking directly to President Moore of the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco. The President talked from the usher's roof at the White House, where more than a year ago he touched an electric button blowing up the last barriers between the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans in the Panama Canal.

During the six-day campaign of the Y. M. C. A. for an increased membership, speakers of national note will be present at each of the dinners to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Building. At these dinners reports of the progress of the campaign are received. E. J. Hockenbury of Harrisburg, Pa., a membership campaign expert, will have charge of the plans for the six-day effort.

Clergymen and laymen throughout the city are co-operating in an effort to have Billy Sunday, the noted baseball evangelist, come to Washington for a series of evangelistic services. Although there is some sporadic objection to Rev. Mr. Sunday's methods, it is not believed that this will prevent a successful invitation being extended to him to come to Washington.

Spring shoes are beginning to appear in the shops despite the inclement weather. An alluring variety of styles and wide range of colors are offered to women of taste this season, but white and black will be the favorite combination. High shoes for spring wear threaten again, and this time with real force, for the fashionable skirts will be very short, and the high boot undoubtedly gives a trimmer ankle, but it is doubtful whether they will become universally popular in Washington, where the warm weather comes early.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL FOR BEDFORD COUNTY

An agricultural school is contemplated in the Bedford High School for next year if a sufficient number of pupils can be interested. It would take about thirty pupils to make it possible to establish the school and this number could be secured, it is believed, since Bedford is centrally located and has railroad facilities to convey pupils from and to their homes daily when they reside near the railroads. A number of pupils already take advantage of these facilities.

Bedford County needs a school of this kind. Other counties have them and Bedford County can get these advantages as well, and we need it. It will build up the community interest, give advantage to our talents at home and eliminate all unnecessary costs of going away and being away from home. It will have a tendency to conserve the brain and brawn and keep them on the farm.

The course would be four years. One-half would be High School work and the other half would be practical subjects relating to farm work. The pupils would be required to do recitation work, laboratory work and field work. The high school equipment would be used.

The course would likely be something on this order though a change may be required upon organization:

First Year—English, History and Civics, Drawing, Shop Work, Soils, Poultry Raising, Farm Forestry.

Second Year—English, Botany and Zoology, Drawing, Farm Crops, Vegetable Gardening, Ornamental Gardening, Farm Book-keeping.

Third Year—English, Natural Philosophy, Drawing, Farm Animals and Dairying, Fruit Raising.

Fourth Year—English, Chemistry, Farm Mechanics, Rural Law, Fertilizers and Farm Management.

It is not the intention to abandon the instruction of the pupil during the summer months. The instructor will be hired for a year and he will supervise and direct the pupils all through the year even though the school be closed. Pupils will assume control of a certain part of farm industry, dairy, garden, field of potatoes, corn, oats, etc., and he will be required to keep an accurate record of the work done, seed selected, and its cost, weather conditions, returns from the work and field with products in measure and in value.

This work must be organized this spring in order to begin next fall. Students and parents should see or address J. M. Garbrick, Principal of High School, Bedford, Pa., as soon as possible and teachers of the county would confer a favor by calling the attention of the advantages to the pupils and parents.

The Odd Fellows' banquet Saturday night was largely attended. The speakers of the evening were D. G. M., J. Reed Irvine, Dr. Harry Brightbill and Fred C. Pate of Bedford. They were accompanied here by their wives. The visiting brother Odd Fellows from a distance were Asa Diehl and wife of Bedford, Charles Cessna of Smithfield and William Elder of Cumberland. A program was prepared composed of quartets and recitations. Dr. Stoner and Guy Snowden certainly deserve congratulations on their recitations. After the program was rendered twenty-two couples formed and left the lodge room. A march was furnished by Mrs. Walter Nave. When they entered the banquet hall, they were received with a march furnished by John Hafer. The guests partook of a delicious supper. Over a hundred suppers were served which had been prepared by Mrs. O. P. Nave.

A BLESSING TO LABOR.

An authority on the labor question makes this statement:

"The wiping out of the liquor traffic will throw two thousand millions of dollars annually into the legitimate channels of trade and industry. This would take the entire output of every factory now in existence and necessitate the building of new factories. It would give employment to every idle person at increased wages. The benefits thus accruing to labor would far exceed the demands that labor is making of capital if all these demands were granted today."

The saloon destroys, but does not create values."

IN WEST VIRGINIA.

A passenger conductor of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad writes to Hon. Fred O. Blue, state tax commissioner of West Virginia, as follows: "I was doubtful, as was everybody else, as to the effect such a law would have. I must confess that the immediate effect has been almost beyond belief. We have now passed several pay days and Saturdays, and there has been absolutely no drinking worth mentioning, and where I had to endure personal risk in fist encounters almost every week to secure order from some drunks, I now handle even larger crowds with comparative ease. The women and children are now traveling, partly on the money that was spent for booze and partly because they are not afraid to travel. The results seem too good to last, but if all the officers of the law keep after it, I see no reason why things shall not be even better as time goes on. This is a pretty unqualified indorsement for a railroad conductor who has been up against the world and a rough part of the world for 30 years, but I feel that the changed conditions warrant it."

The following was received from a large coal operator of the state: "I never in my life saw such a great improvement in the way of behavior and manly conduct as on the passenger train of the Cabin Creek branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio since whisky ceased to be a merchandising proposition in our state. Further, I notice with great pleasure that a large portion of our men who used to go out to get whisky are now spending this time with their families or at the Y. M. C. A., and a portion of the money which originally went for whisky is now going toward the entertainment of their families, which means untold pleasures for the children."

Mr. Blue concludes his report with this statement: "Such letters from men in touch with the practical, everyday life speak with more convincing power than anything I can say."

ACCIDENTS DUE TO LIQUOR.

"It will not be long before the saloon will be as much separated from the industrial plant as it is now from the church. As a matter of business we will have to furnish workmen better entertainment than saloons do. We also will have to pay in cash to prevent men from going to saloons to convert their checks into currency. Sixty per cent of industrial accidents in the United States are due to liquor."—L. R. Palmer, chief inspector of the Pennsylvania department of labor and industry, in an address before the national congress of industrial safety.

Tuesday, February 2 is DE LAVAL SERVICE DAY at our store

For the benefit of our many customers and users of De Laval Cream Separators we have established a De Laval Service Day.

On this date we shall be glad to have any De Laval user bring his separator to our store for a complete and careful inspection and adjustment, which will be made free of charge. Should any parts, due to unusual wear or accident, need to be replaced, this will be done, the only charge being for the price of the new parts used. No charge will be made for the service.

A De Laval service man will be with us to assist with this work. Bring in your De Laval Separator that day and receive the benefit of his advice on the care and operation of the machine, as well as the free service. It is our wish, and that of the De Laval Company, that every user of a De Laval Separator get the maximum of efficiency at the minimum of cost, and we therefore urge you to avail yourself of this free and useful service.

NEW MODES IN SPRING HATS

Styles for Southern Trips Forerunners of Spring and Summer Models

EMPIRE STYLES REVIVED

New York, January 25, 1915.

The holidays over, people begin to think of the cold weather to come and prepare for the annual trip to the South or to California. For these migrants the shopkeepers display the first straw hats of the season.

The hats to be seen mostly at the present time are, of course, forerunners of what we "stay-at-homes" will wear in the late Spring and Summer. The majority are of silk, with an underfacing of straw, or silk trimmed with a band of straw. In many cases the crowns of the hats are of silk, while the brims may be of straw. The all-straw hats are mostly of a rough, coarse straw and trimmed with gros-grain ribbon.

Covert Cloth Dress on Moyan Age Lines

Small hats, like the small sailors, Scotch kepis, miniature tricornes and turbans, are the order of the day. The torpedo turban is among the novelties, made long with a crease front and back. A striking model is made of barn-yard straw and shaped similarly to a four-cornered box. The top of the hat is slightly lifted, like the lid of a box, showing a bunch of ribbons protruding. A bow of ribbon on the lid ending in long streamers completes the model.

The latest hats show a strong preference for ribbon trimming, usually disposed of in bows and steamers, and again gathered and shirred. They are sometimes looped around the crown of a hat in loops the size of a cartridge thus forming a cartridge belt around the crown.

The English, so-called "pill-box," hats are to be seen as well as others with a raised crown. These vie in popularity with some flat shapes, one inelegantly called in the trade the "fried egg" shape.

As a concession to the military spirit are hats similar to the Scotch kepi and others in imitation of the French infantry cap, made up in red silk with a small shield; the crown tapers and is deuced on one side, with gold braid embroidered on the top.

Another military hat, a cross between the French police bonnet and the Austrian infantry cap, is made with a peak in front, where the only trimming consists of a brass button.

Of the suits to travel in, and for general wear, covert is shown first and last. The semi-fitting jacket with long, pointed fronts and pockets set well down in the points is among the favorites of those shown. There is also a smart short jacket which has a wide belt placed on the upper part of the jacket with a high waistline, the lower edge of the belt coming to the normal waistline of the figure. With these jackets are worn skirts which flare at the lower edge; they are cut circular, two- or three-piece, and not long ago I saw a skirt which had nine pores to its credit.

Many skirts are made with a yoke which is close-fitting over the hips and with the lower section of the skirt put onto the yoke without a gather or a wrinkle. Other skirts are made with an upper and a lower section, the upper section close-fitting, while the lower section is made so that the flare at the lower edge is decided.

The dresses which are on the moyen age order still hold sway among the tall and lissome figures, to whom it is especially becoming. The model which I have used for my first illustration is a frock designed on the long moyen age lines. The waist reaches from the shoulders to a low hipline on the sides, while the front panel of the skirt reaches up and becomes the front panel of the waist as well. A narrow belt is worn loosely around the waist, defining the normal waistline. The material of this dress is the very fashionable covert cloth trimmed at the V-neck and sleeves with narrow bands of beaver.

The jumper models are both practical and smart, and are a method of developing in a dress which will afford many changes in the way of various guimpes of silk, of net, or of chiffon. In many cases the suitability of this dress for simple or more elaborate occasions being supplied by the guimpe.

The model illustrated shows the latest mode in jumper dresses. The full, flaring skirt is of the new large check, which is so much seen among the new frocks which are the forerunners of the Spring styles in navy blue and white. The jumper is of plain material, matching the blue of the check, high on the skirt in front and low in the back. With this is worn a guimpe of buckskin-colored crepe de Chine.

Taffeta is a material which holds a strong place among the up-to-date materials. It is to be seen in various new effects, dimly watered like moire silk, changeable and in cross-bar and dotted effects. It is very queer, however, that more of the taffeta is used for evening dresses than for the afternoon frocks.

A stunning dress of white cross-bar taffeta caught my eye the other day in one of the very smart shop windows. The skirt, full and rippling, is bound on a heavy cable cord. On each side, from waistline to hipline, is a yoke effect outlined with iridescent spangles and trimmed with a motif of spangles and pearl strands.

The Fashionable Jumper Dress in a New Development

The bodice is cut low and square; the front is wrinkled, while the back is cut with ends which cross and are draped to the shoulders, where they are held with a pearl-and-spangle motif. The short sleeves are of white maline.

The shops are showing many short-waisted dresses, especially for evening wear—little gowns with waists which reach just below the bust and long skirts with very little trimming. They are very similar to the gowns worn in Josephine's time, and yet conform enough to the fullness of skirt, which is the new vogue, to keep them from being as clinging as the gowns of those days, and they are far from being as low.

A charming little model which I saw this morning was made of a deep blue taffeta. The waist was very short, with a rounding low neck, which showed the tips of the shoulders, and was finished with a frill of the silk. The sleeves were short, puffed sleeves, also finishing with a frill of the same. The skirt was set upon the waist with a heading of itself, which was a frill about an inch deep. The only color on the dress was a garland of tiny deep pink rose buds, which clambered through the intricacies of the frills on skirt, sleeves and waist.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Cause of the Roman Empire.
The reason "why the Roman empire succeeded the republic" was that there was felt to be an urgent need of a strong central power. For many years the republic had been desolated, and the cry of the whole people was for peace—peace at almost any price. Now, peace could be secured only by the ascendancy of a single man, ruling with absolute and irresistible sway. So the people acquiesced in the change. They even hailed it with joy. A few patriots like Brutus and Cato gave up in despair, but most men were pleased with the revolution which made Caesar supreme—not that they were monarchistic at heart, but that after the devastating strife they wanted peace, even though it be at the sacrifice of some of their liberties.—St. Louis Times.

Japanese Fashions.
A Japanese woman of fashion is by no means a drain on her husband's finances. The cost of her wearing apparel is very small indeed when compared to her sister of the occident. She wears $13.80 worth of clothing under her kimono, the latter costing about $25. The obi costs another $25. Numerous tying paraphernalia sum up to $17.25, and a set of footwear amounts to about $9. Combs and hairpins ornamented with gems cost $24.50, a shawl $7.50, a diamond neck clasp $150, a total of a little more than $900 for a season. This is a very modest outlay when compared to the enormous cost of apparel for the woman of fashion in New York and Paris.—New York Sun

A Lesson In Spelling.
The lawyer was Scotch, and the judge was English. The case in argument concerned certain water rights, and the lawyer had frequently to use the word "water," which he pronounced very broad.

"Mr. So-and-so," at last interrupted the judge, "do you spell water with two 's' in your country?"
"Na, na, my lord," quickly retorted the lawyer, "but we spell manners with two 'n's!"

TRANS-CONTINENTAL TELEPHONE SERVICE OPENED

New York and San Francisco Talk Over a Line 3400 Miles Long

Dr. Bell, the Inventor, and Thomas A. Watson the First to Use the New Line

NEW YORK, January 25.—In a little room off Broadway in lower New York there was enacted this afternoon a scene which will go down in history as one of the most important events in the closer union of this country—the binding of the east and west with a copper talk canal. The formal opening of ocean-to-ocean telephone service, the spanning of the continent by this 3400 miles of line is the greatest triumph of telephone engineers.

In the office of the President of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., a group of one hundred or so persons surrounded Dr. Bell, the inventor of the telephone, and the first to use the ocean-to-ocean line. Included were Mayor Mitchell, of New York, other city officials and prominent persons; J. J. Carthy, chief engineer of the Bell System, under whose direction the line was built; B. Gherardi, another telephone engineer; Thomas B. Doolittle, who developed hard-drawn copper wire, so important in the building of this new line, and others.

All were much affected when Dr. Bell, a tall, white-haired man, with a full white beard and dark eyes that still have in them all the fire of youth, picked up the little wizard instrument and sent the first word vibrating from ocean to ocean.

The instrument which he used was the same crude little telephone which had served that day, close to forty years ago, when sound first traveled over a wire. An added touch of sentiment was given by the fact that a small piece of the wire first used in long-distance telephoning in those days, many years ago, was also spliced to the line.

"Ahoy! Ahoy! Can you hear me?" asked Dr. Bell, and instantly there was a murmur in the receiver audible to everyone in the room. Out in San Francisco in the offices of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, Thomas A. Watson had heard the voice of his old-time associate signaling in the manner they had employed in their earliest experiments, and had answered: "I can hear perfectly."

The man to whom Dr. Bell talked in San Francisco was his former assistant, who, in 1875, was the first man to listen to words that had traveled across a wire. Mr. Watson, surrounded by a small group of Pacific Coast people in the offices of The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., heard Dr. Bell's message quite distinctly and replied to it. Practically all of the other persons in both cities were given an opportunity to talk and listen over the new line.

The President of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, T. N. Vail, was unable to be present. However, another feat was accomplished when, by special arrangement his stopping place at Jekyll Island, off the coast of Florida, was connected to the line. It was fitting, indeed that these three men, one—the inventor of the telephone, the other—the man who first heard speech over a wire, and the third—the man who has done more than any other person in the conception and practical management which has brought about the wonderful development of the telephone within a man's lifetime, should be among those present, although hundreds of miles intervened between each of them at the formal opening of this epoch-making line.

At the White House President Wilson spoke into the mouthpiece of his telephone and his voice was whirled across thirteen States to the shores of the Pacific.

No more graphic illustration of the development of the telephone in the forty years of its life could be given than this event which occurred today. The queer-looking first telephone was in plain view and it only served to emphasize the improvements which have been made in the art of telephony since he first made a wire talk. The evolution of the telephone instrument itself to that standard instrument with which we are familiar has come through many stages of development. Of the transmitter alone 73 different types have been used, and 53 different types of receivers have seen their day.

An incident which served to emphasize that the difference in time between the two cities is approximately three hours occurred when one of the persons in New York asked a man in San Francisco "what was the time." He was surprised to hear him say "a little after 1 o'clock." Then he realized that the sun which was lengthening the shadows of the skyscrapers in New York had still several hours to go before it would set over the Golden Gate of San Francisco.

While the service at the formal celebration was pronounced excellent by every one who had used the line, it was stated that it would not be commercially opened for some time to come, as a number of details remain to be perfected. A description of the line, while too technical to be understood by the layman, indicates that many problems had to be solved before it could be completed. While it would be natural to believe that nothing more was required than to extend the telephone line to bridge the gap between Denver and San Francisco, almost the reverse of this was true. It was only after improvements had been made and new inventions added to line, cable, switchboard, receiver, transmitter and multitudes of other apparatus that the way was opened up to span the continent.

To the force of five hundred and fifty odd engineers and scientists which compose the various experimental departments of the Bell Company was given the task of devising new apparatus, new ways of manufacturing equipment and wire and of planning all the multifarious details of the building of a practical telephone line 3400 miles long, a feat which had never before been accomplished. To-day the triumph of the telephone engineers is complete. The new and wonderful talk canal which they have planned has been tested and found perfect. It will carry man's spoken words, the varied intonations of his voice

STOP BUYING EXPENSIVE COUGH REMEDIES

Make the Best at Home
Money spent for the old style, ready-made, cough syrups in bottles holding only 2 to 2½ ounces is very largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it was all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better cough medicine at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to John R. Dull's Drug Store and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's Concentrated Expectantant. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (16 ounces). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold. Also excellent for Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness and Bronchitis group, hoarseness and whooping cough. One bottle will make enough home-made cough medicine to probably last the whole family the entire winter. Children like it, it is so pleasant to take and it positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics as do most cough mixtures. Keep it on hand in case of emergency and stop each cough before it gets a firm hold. The above druggist has been authorized to return the money in every single case where it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found the best remedy ever used. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy under this positive guarantee.—Adv. 13 Dec. 8t.

which indicates his personality, clear across the widest point of this continent by means of electrical waves speeding at the rate of 2,000 separate vibrations a second. "How long does it take for the sound of your voice to reach San Francisco," was a question asked. If measured accurately the elapsed time would be 1/15th of a second, say the telephone engineers. If man's voice were strong enough to reach that distance it would take four hours for the sound to travel to the Pacific Coast, but the tiny electrical waves of the telephone speed it over in fifteen seconds.

Each new stride in the development of long-distance telephony has brought greater difficulties to be overcome and further improvements of methods and apparatus. The cumulative effect of this constant progressiveness by the telephone engineers has led to this crowning success of the telephone art. The first sustained talks between Boston and Cambridge, a distance of two miles, took place about 1876. A single strand of wire was used, and, to say the least, conversation over this line was miserable. Later when the Boston and Providence line was constructed, in 1884, two strands of copper wire were used instead of the single ground line, thus forming the so-called metallic circuit, with the result of a wonderful improvement in the transmission. The man who constructed this line was J. J. Carthy, then a youth of twenty-two. Eighteen hundred and eighty-four saw Boston and Cambridge connected. Later this line was extended to reach New York. More betterments in the art were introduced when a line was opened between New York and Chicago, in 1895. Since then one improvement has succeeded another as the lines were extended to Omaha, Denver, then Salt Lake City—only about a year ago.

The new continental line has required 130,000 poles and 6,800 miles of hard-drawn copper wire in each of the two circuits. In order to preserve the electrical current, which is little more than a breath, throughout the entire length of this 3,400 miles of wire, a number of pieces of special apparatus have been placed at regular intervals. In addition the four lines which compose the two physical circuits are transposed at regular intervals to form what is known as a phantom circuit, which practically adds a third talking circuit. Even the insulators on this line are different. They were specially designed for this purpose after many experiments. They are of porcelain, instead of the usual glass kind.

It is most fitting that during this year, when our Panama Canal is to be formally opened to the nations of the world, when the waters of the Pacific are united to those of the Atlantic, that this new talk canal should also be formally opened. To it is given the task of not merely connecting two oceans, but of binding together with its copper strands into a closer union the people of an entire nation. The steel rails of the trans-continental railroads were the first connecting links between the East and the Golden West, but here is a copper bond which will more firmly cement the union, as the messages of friendship are whispered across 3,400 miles of wire in the unmistakable voice of a united people.

MIDWINTER ADVERTISING

January and February are a period when the public looks through the newspaper advertising with keen attention.

A great many people have formed a regular habit of delaying purchases until this time of year. They know that most merchants will give unusually good bargains in midwinter, to save carrying goods over until another year. A merchant that does not get into line and tell the public through the newspapers what he is doing at this time of year will find his trade very slack. But a simple statement of the good values that can now be found in almost any enterprising store will be read with eager interest. The store will find that it is doing an excellent business even at a dull period.

Goods can't be moved unless the public is told about them. A customer may go by the store every day in the week. But if she does not know that inside back on those shelves is just the bargain that would appeal to her, the goods might just as well be in Jericho. She goes home, picks up the newspaper, reads about the special value offered in some other store, and on her next trip hunts out the place that had the enterprise to seek her patronage.

The merchant who does not advertise pays a high price for the money saved. Goods grow more unseasonable the longer they stay in a store. The proprietor is getting no profit on them to pay his fixed charges. Rent, interest, taxes, light, and heat, and clerk hire expenses are running along every day, and must be paid. The only way to pay them is to keep the goods moving.

Goods held over until another season are apt to become so shopworn or out of style that they have to be sold for a song. Goods well advertised and sold during the season for which they are bought go at fairly good price, and help the merchant close his season without loss.

American Boy

"My Adventures Hunting Big Game," by Captain W. Robert Foran, is one of the main features of the current issue of The American Boy. This great hunter and soldier of fortune contributes many a funny story of the jungle and presents an intimate view of animal life in Africa and India. "Playing Basketball to Win," "How to Grow Your Plants From Seeds," "Some Poultry Pests" and "The Incandescent Lamp" are helpful and interesting special articles. There is an able review of the war by Donald Hamilton Haines. The illustrations are numerous and excellent, and the departments are varied in their scope.

A SAMPLE OF YELLOW JOURNALISM

The editor of a country paper was giving the other day some personal reminiscences of his dealings with a certain metropolitan paper. There had been a railroad accident, and the big city paper called up to get a story. He sent in his report, but on getting his paper, was astonished to find that the wreck story was different in almost every particular.

He was confident that the paper, on getting the first tip over the wire that there had been an accident, had faked the circumstances of the whole thing in advance, and very likely put it into type, leaving only a few blanks for the list of those injured, name of conductor and engineer, etc.

Local correspondents for big city papers perform their work faithfully and often at cost of much hard exertion and inconvenience. Printing a partly faked story puts them in a ridiculous position before the home community.

This is only one of thousands of instances that could be adduced of the methods prevailing in a certain section of the metropolitan press. It is sometimes said that the public likes to read interesting things, and is indifferent whether the stories are true or not. This is rather underrating public intelligence. Few people like to buy green goods. They will do it once or twice, just as the farmers used freely to part with their good money for gold bricks. But eventually they learn better.

Gradually the public is also learning better about newspapers. It wants to find out what happened, not fictions originating in the brain of clever reporters many miles away. It is learning that the only way to learn the truth is to buy the newspaper produced at home, written by men who depend for their success on their reputation for accuracy, fairness, and truth telling.

Many People in this Town never really enjoyed a meal until we advised them to take a Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal. Sold only by us—25c a box.

Remembered it. Said a teacher to a boy with a slow memory, who had tried in vain to tell the name of the schoolmaster: "can't you remember your master's name?"

"No, sir."
"My name is Brown, blackhead!"
"Yes, sir."
"Well, now see if you can repeat it. What is my name?"
"Brown Blackhead, sir." Exchange.
